The Great Lung Remedy.

MASTA'S INDIAN PULMONIC BALSAM,

FOR THE CURE OF

COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Influenza, Croup, Hooping Cough, Asthma, and all other affections of the Lungs and Chest.

Coughs, and all Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, are speedily relieved by the use of this valuable preparation.

In those cases that are beyond recovery, more ease and comfort are derived from its use than from any other medicine.

It is composed entirely of Vegetable Ingredients, free from Minerals and Poisonous Acids, and can be relied on at all times and under all circumstances.

In Lowell, Massachusetts, where it is manufactured and well known, the demand is unparalleled, having met with wonderful success in an extensive practice for the last eighteen years.

Testimonials and directions accompany the medicine.

For Hoarseness and Sore Throat

It gives decided relief, and effects a rapid and permanent cure.

For Colds and Coughs

It affords immediate relief, by its positive power to quiet irritation and abate feverish excitement throughout the system.

For Bronchitis

It is an effectual and certain remedy. It has a specific applicability for all Diseases of the throat.

For Croup and Whooping Cough

It affords immediate relief, in all cases, by its expectorant and antispasmodic properties, and by its power effectually to allay irritation of the lining membranes of the air-passages.

For Congestive and Spasmodic Diseases of the Lungs

It is the most reliable remedy now before the public, and particularly for that distressing disease, the Asthma.

For Bleeding from the Lungs

It has extraordinary efficacy, checking undue arterial excitement, and tending rapidly to restore and equalize the circulation.

For Consumption

It is the most reliable remedy, certain to arrest irritation and speedily relieve a Cough; it at the same time yields nutritive, strengthening and healing influence, imparting vigor to the whole system. Upon this peculiar but rare power of renovating the system, rests its great efficacy for the cure of all the first stages of Consumption.

PREFACE.

THE Publisher offers herewith to the public another volume of the Lowell Directory. The nature of the population of this city, subject as it is, in common with the population of other manufacturing cities, to much fluctuation, renders an Annual Directory desirable, in order to present a correct view of the city as it is. The number of removals, changes, &c., for the past year, has been very great, which has enhanced the need of a Directory much above the wants of ordinary years.

In the miscellaneous department, an altogether original plan has been adopted, which, it is believed, will meet the approbation of the people of this city. When almanacs are gratuitously and profusely given to the public, it has not seemed desirable to incorporate one with a directory; it is therefore omitted. For reasons given on page 193, the Business Directory is also omitted. In place of these, a large amount of statistics relating to churches, schools, manufactures, &c., &c., have patiently been collected and compiled, and which will be especially valuable for reference and preservation.

It is not pretended that the present Directory is absolutely free from errors. In such a work it is morally impossible it should be. But it is claimed that the labor has been faithfully and impartially done, and the result is cheerfully submitted to a discerning public.

MISCELLANEOUS DEPARTMENT.

THE principal object of the Directory is now completed, to wit: To give the name, occupation, place of business, and residence of the people of this city. How well this has been performed must be left to the judgment of the public. To this a "Business Directory" is sometimes superadded. In this volume it is omitted for various reasons. It does not necessarily come within the scope of a Directory; to obtain a full, complete and impartial one involves a greater expenditure of time and labor than is generally accorded, while a superficial and incomplete one does injustice, however unintentional, to some portion of the business community. It occupies space which might be filled with other matter of greater interest to the mass of the citizens, and to a partial extent deprives advertisers of the full benefit arising from their advertisements.

In lieu, therefore, of a Business Directory, the remaining pages will contain many statistics collected and compiled with great care, having reference to the general, political, social, intellectual and moral institutions and character of the city. Much will be entirely original, and all will be valuable for preservation and reference.

Advertisers will also receive a due share of attention. By the plan of insertion adopted, each one will be brought prominently and favorably before the public eye.

To citizens and strangers who may visit the city, the advertising list is especially commended. It comprises the names of firms well known to the people of the city as well established and deserving of extensive patronage, in the diverse branches of business in which they are engaged. These, taken together, furnish an excellent Business Guide, and are worthy of daily reference.

HISTORY OF LOWELL.

THE spot where Lowell now stands was originally the rendezvous of the Pawtucket Indians, and remained the abode of the Indians exclusively, long after the settlement of the neighboring towns. It was visited by John Eliot, "the Apostle of the Indians," as early as 1646, and continued to be visited by him every spring until after the close of King Philip's War. Hence it became known in the history of Indian missions as the "praying town" of Wamesit, or Pawtucket. In 1726, this place, having long been abandoned by the Indians, was annexed to Chelmsford. It became quite an important part of Chelmsford, and furnished soldiers for the conquest of Louisburg, the war of the Revolution, and the suppression of Shay's Rebellion.

Towards the close of the last century, this place became the theatre of an active lumber business. Boats, rafts and masts were passed down the river to Newburyport, in great numbers, every year. It was to facilitate this business that the Proprietors of the Locks and Canals were incorporated in 1792, who opened the Pawtucket Canal in 1797. Then were started saw-mills, grist-mills, a scythe-factory, etc. The enterprise of the place also found vent in the fisheries; some twenty-five hundred barrels of salmon, shad and alewives being taken from the rivers every year. A cotton mill was started in 1813, which was converted into a satinet mill in 1818. In the year last named were started powder-mills, a forging mill, and a flannel mill,—the germ of that now owned by the Belvidere Woolen Manufacturing Company.

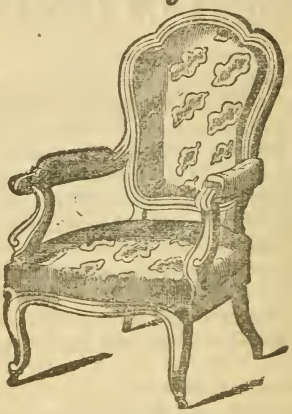

In 1821, Nathan Appleton, Patrick T. Jackson, and others, who had already experimented with success in the manufacture of cottons at Waltham, purchased most of the stock of the Proprietors of the Locks and Canals, and about four hundred acres of the adjoining lands. In 1822, they were incorporated as the Merrimack Manufacturing Company, and commenced the manufacture of cottons in 1823. In 1825, the Proprietors of the Locks and Canals were re-organized under the old charter of 1792, but with extended powers. The business of the Proprietors now was to construct mills, canals and machinery, and furnish land and water-power to such new companies as should from time to time be organized. Conformably to this plan, eight new cotton-manufacturing companies were organized in the course of the next fifteen years, viz: the Hamilton in 1825, Appleton and Lowell in 1828, Suffolk, Tremont and Lawrence in 1830, Boott in 1835, and Massachusetts, (with which was afterwards united the Prescott,) in 1839. These, with the Merrimack, have a capital of twelve million dollars. Their productive capacity has been doubled within twelve years. They run four hundred thousand spindles and twelve thousand looms. Their annual consumption of raw cotton is thirty-six million pounds. Their annual yield of cotton fabrics is a hundred and twenty million yards. Only two of these companies print any of their fabrics, viz: the Merrimack and the Hamilton; and these print but a portion of their fabrics. The Lowell Company, in addition to its cotton fabrics, manufactures annually a million yards of Osnaburgs and rugs. A separate company, incorporated in 1832, is devoted to the business of bleaching and dyeing. The Middlesex Company, incorporated in 1830, has a capital of one million dollars, runs four mills, and manufactures annually a million and a half yards of cassimeres and other woolen cloths. The number of Lowell operatives, of all descriptions, exceeds fifteen thousand.

Nor has private enterprise been wanting. Its presence is attested by numerous wadding mills, batting mills, saw-mills, grist-mills, machine shops, planing-mills, print-shops, dye-houses, tanneries, belt factories, screw-bolt factories, cotton and woolen carpet factories, reed and loom-harness factories, bag-factories, card-factories, bobbin and shuttle factories, carriage and harness factories, bedstead factories, and other mechanical establishments, involving a capital of, perhaps, a million dollars.

The first religious society in Lowell—the germ of St. Anne's Church—was organized in 1824. There are now twenty churches, viz: five Congregational, three Baptist, three Methodist, three Roman Catholic, two Unitarian, two Universalist, one Episcopal, and one Free Will Baptist; besides several societies of Presbyterians, Swedenborgians, Second Adventists, Spiritualists, Come-Outers, etc.

The public buildings of Lowell are, the City Hall, erected in 1830; the Alms House, erected in 1835; the Market House, erected in 1837; the Old Jail, erected in 1838; the Court House, erected in 1851; Huntington Hall, erected in 1853; and the New Jail, the most costly edifice in the city, erected in 1857.

There are two bridges across the Merrimac at Lowell, viz: Pawtucket Bridge, built in 1792, and re-built in 1805; and Central Bridge, built in 1826, re-built in 1843, and covered in 1849. Several bridges have been thrown across the Concord, between 1724 and the present time, which are now demolished. Three are now standing, viz: East Merrimac Street Bridge, built in 1857; Church Street Bridge, built in 1858; and the Cemetery Bridge, built in 1847.

The first schools in Lowell were conducted on the "District System," which was abolished in 1832. There are now a high school, eight grammar schools, three intermediate schools, and fifty-one primaries,—involving an annual outlay of over fifty thousand dollars, exclusive of the cost of land, buildings, etc.

The publication of the first Lowell newspaper—now the Journal and Courier—was commenced in 1826. Some forty newspapers have at different times been started. Four only are published now.

The first bank was established in 1829. There are now six banks, viz: the Appleton, Lowell, Merchants, Prescott, Railroad, and Wamesit; with a capital of fourteen hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

The Fire Department, established in 1829, contains four hundred and fifty men, divided into twelve companies, with ten engines. The Militia of Lowell consists of four companies, viz: the Mechanic Phalanx, City Guards, Watson Light Guards, and Lawrence Cadets; each company containing forty men.

The Boston and Lowell Railroad was incorporated in 1830, was opened for travel in 1835, and cost eighteen hundred thousand dollars. The Nashua and Lowell was incorporated in 1835, the Stony Brook in 1845, the Lowell and Lawrence in 1846, and the Salem and Lowell in 1848. The direction of all these roads is now centralized in the Boston and Lowell Railroad Company.

A second re-organization of the Proprietors of the Locks and Canals was effected in 1845, when the Machine Shop, which had heretofore been an appendage to the business of the Proprietors, was incorporated as a separate establishment. The Machine Shop formerly found employment for more than twelve hundred men. It now employs about one hundred.

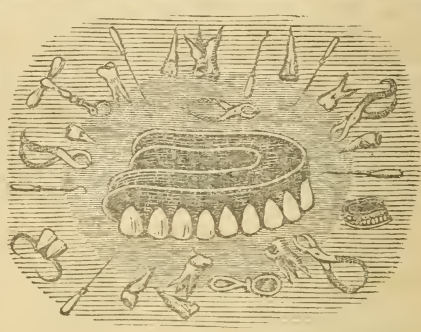

Five other institutions remain to be noticed, viz: the Middlesex Mechanic Association, incorporated in 1825; the Dispensary, established in 1836; the Hospital, in 1839; the Missionary Association, in 1843; the City School Library, in 1844. This library has been recently re-catalogued, and contains over ten thousand volumes.

Free Chapel—Middlesex, near Davis Street. The Ministry at Large was established in August 1844, by the Lowell Missionary Society, with Rev. Horatio Wood as its minister. It was intended as a benevolent institution, for the benefit of the poor of the city, and was to have none but pure philanthropic aims. It has uniformly sustained this character. It has developed itself into a form, distinctly charitable, religious, educational and reformatory. The poor of the city, not reached by any other existing organization, are the subjects of its care. The necessaries of life as required after investigation, are given in such a manner as to prevent dependence and promote self-reliance, and with advice suited to the physical, and moral wants of the applicant. The sum of about $1,300 was expended, the last year for food, fuel, clothing, &c., for the poor. The Free Chapel will seat about 400 worshippers, and the slips are open to all, who, unconnected with any church, and unable to clothe themselves and pay for seats, will partake of its adapted teachings, and share its multiplied blessings The Chapel has often proved itself a stepping stone to other churches. Religion is also carried to the firesides of many, who are unable to attend church by reason of sickness, and from other causes. The Ministry at Large recognizes no difference of religious opinions, but persons of all sects are placed on an equal footing, with a view "to the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace." A Free Evening School was organized in 1845, at the Chapel, and another on Suffolk Street in 1852. The schools are under the direction of the Ministry at Large, assisted by about seventy volunteer teachers, two thirds of whom are females. They are held in each place two evenings in each week during the winter. No scholars are admitted under fifteen years of age, and a great majority of those attending are operatives in the mills. The number of scholars registered in 1857–8 was about 1,200. Many persons of mature age here learn to read. The man of fifty has here learned his letters, and received the first rudiments of an education. The city annually contributes $500 for the support of these schools, and they have been under the supervision of the School Committee, since 1855. It is contemplated to start a third school, soon. There is a library of 500 volumes, at the Chapel. Children and adults are learned to sew, in a school for that purpose. Reformation from intemperance, and every kindred vice, is a prominent object of attention on the part of the Ministry. The object is to take the erring young in guidance, and prepare the aged penitent for the tomb. The adopted principles and methods are true friendliness, kindness, openness, faith and hope. At the same time its cardinal maxim is, "Prevention is better than Cure." The building occupied for the Free Chapel, was erected by the Hamilton and Appleton Corporations, for school rooms, and was occupied as such until 1844, when a part was transferred to the Ministry at Large, and in 1846 the whole passed into the hands of the latter.

Presbyterians. Some years since, a Presbyterian society was organized in this city, and for sometime maintained public worship. Subsequently the society mainly became merged in other congregations. Recently it has been revived, and preaching is had every Sabbath at Mechanics' Hall.

Spiritualists. There are two societies of Spiritualists in this city, one of which holds its meetings at Welles' Hall, and the other in the Hall over the Post Office on the Sabbath. To the former, seats can be obtained for 75 cents per quarter, by application to James Hulme, at the hall on the Sabbath, or a single admission fee is five cents. To the latter the admission is free, the expense being paid by contributions.

Other Societies. There is a Swedenborgian society, which holds its meetings at private houses, and there are individuals attached to other minor sects, but are without any organization of place of meeting.

SCHOOLS.

There are in Lowell, a High School; eight Grammar Schools; three Intermediate Schools; fifty-one Primary Schools, and two Free Evening Schools. The whole are at present under the Superintendence of a School Committee, consisting of two members from each

SELF GENERATING GAS LAMP.

FAIRBANK'S PATENT.

This Lamp has recently been introduced in this city by MR. J. C. BEAN, who has purchased the right for Lowell and vicinity. It is coming extensively into use in various places, and everywhere gives the most entire satisfaction. A trial is only necessary to satisfy any one of its superiority to any of the lamps now in use. For brilliancy of light, and cheapness, it is unrivalled. It is perfectly safe and requires less care than any other lamp.

Those who have made a trial of it in this city speak of it in the highest terms for its utility, cheapness, and the brilliant light it gives. It is also entirely free from the unpleasant smell which sometimes characterizes gas and oil lamps. It may be seen at where persons may call and examine it; and from the unqualified commendations it has received, the proprietor is certain that it is the best Lamp ever offered to the public.

MANUFACTORIES.

The principal feature of Lowell, and by which it is best known abroad, is the number and extent of its manufactories. Although it is generally known as the largest manufacturing city on this continent, few persons have probably an adequate perception of the productions of its mills. In as brief a form as possible, the leading statistics of each incorporated company are given, derived from authentic sources.

MAGNETO-ELECTRICITY AS A REMEDY IN ALL DISEASES DEPENDENT UPON A FAULTY ACTION OF THE NERVOUS SYSTEM.

Certificates of the highest order, in commendation of these machines over all others, are in possession of the manufacturer.

[Extract from the Judges' Report of the last Fair of the Middlesex Mechanic Association, held in Lowell, September, 1857.]

"These Machines are similar in structure and design to the 'Burnap Machine,' already favorably noticed, but so improved by a modification of the gearing and otherwise, that their effectiveness, durability, ease of of working, and cheapness are much increased. For these IMPROVEMENTS we advise the award of a DIPLOMA.

BOSTON, May 21st.

Mr. Davis,—Dear Sir:—

It is now five months since I received your Improved Magneto Electric Machines, with the additional improvement of the direct current. With this I consider it a perfect instrument. I have used it with the happiest results, and in every point I consider greatly superior to any thing of the kind I have ever seen or used.

Yours very truly,

BENJ. S. CODMAN, M. D.,
13 Tremont Street, Boston.

LOWELL, September 13th, 1858.

Mr. Asahel Davis—Dear Sir:

In answer to your enquiry made a few days since I will say that your Improved Magneto Electric Machines have given perfect satisfaction, in fact, so much so, that a number to whom I had sold machines heretofore, have returned them to have the improvements attached. I I find the direct current thus giving it the advantage of a battery: and the absence of gearing, which relieves it of the disagreeable noise, and makes it less liable to get out of order, renders it superior, in my judgment, to any machine I ever sold.

Respectfully yours,

C. S. EASTMAN.

BAY STATE

Varnish Works.

The undersigned invite the attention of dealers and consumers to their superior facilities for the manufacture of Varnish of every variety, suitable for any and all purposes for which it is used.

Our factory (situated in Brighton, Mass.,) is under the superintendence of Mr. J. Babcock, formerly of Newark, N. J., whose skill in this department is second to none. We have made large outlay of time and expense to perfect our arrangements, and are determined to make our Varnishes of a reliable and uniform quality. Our list comprises a large variety of R. R. Car, Coach, Furniture, Piano Forte, Iron, and other Varnishes, and we would request a trial by all who are interested in the article, particularly those who have hitherto ordered from Newark and New York (being determined to save to them the expense of extra freight), believing that our efforts, seconded by Mr. Babcock's experience, will enable us to suit the most particular.

We also manufacture and have for sale all colors and materials required for Painting in its various departments. Especially do we call attention to Stimson's Parlor White, pronounced by Prof. A. A. Hayes, State Chemist, as perfect white paint as he ever tested. It combines purity of white and durability, and, when applied with our white Varnish, forms a most beautiful enamel for inside work.

Orders by mail or express will meet with prompt and personal attention.

BUY

STIMSON'S PARLOR WHITE,

The superiority of this Paint over any other in use, is in its Unrivalled Whiteness, Beauty of Finish, and Durability.

Painters are especially invited to test its advantages over that of White Lead or Zinc Paint

These advantages are

1st. In its clearness and purity of white.

2d. In addition to its being a brilliant white, it possesses strength of body equal, or superior, to any other white paint.

3d. "In its freedom from the poisonous qualities of White Lead."

4th. It is less liable to change of color by exposure to foul air or gases; in this particular, the objection to White Lead will be satisfactorily met.

5th. It mixes as readily, and may be applied with as little labor as other paints.

6th. It possesses a quality which makes it less liable to crack than Zinc Paint.

DIRECTIONS FOR MIXING.

GLOSS FINISH.—For first coat, (over a prepared ground) thin down with Spirits of Turpentine or Camphene. For second coat, use in thinning, three parts Spirits of Turpentine to one part White Varnish.

For GLOSS FINISH, use the White Varnish with enough of the Paint in it to "simply give it color." Where drying is required, use Liquid Zinc Drier, or White Vitriol.

FLATTENED WORK.—For Flattening or Dead Work, mix with good Spirits of Turpentine or Camphene, as with other Paints. The number of coats will depend on the quality of work required.

Specimens on Wood may be seen at our Store.

It is put up in cans of 10 lbs. and 20 lbs. To each 10 lbs of the Paint for GLOSS FINISH, one gallon of White Varnish will be required.

N. B.—To do away with the impression that this Paint is for GLOSS ONLY, we SPECIALLY COMMEND it for any inside work where Lead or Zinc Paints have ordinarily been required, it being superior in all the requisites of any White Paint. Although its first cost is more than White Lead or Zinc, it will prove economical in the end.

STONE'S PATENT CLOTHES DRIER.

The Best and most Economical Clothes Drier in use.

This invention is rapidly acquiring popularity, and will doubtless supersede all other Clothes Driers.

The above cuts represent it when open for use and when closed.

Its advantages over all others are, the great number of clothes it will contain, its convenience, being more portable and occupying less space, comparatively, than any other, its cheapness, and the facility with it may be folded up so as to occupy but a small space. No housekeeper who has ever tried it will dispense with its use.

Specimens of three different sizes, varying in price from $1,25 to $2,00, may be seen at the shop of

D. W. HORNE, Western Avenue,
Proprietor for Lowell and Vicinity.

MAGNETO-ELECTRIC MACHINES.

These Machines are widely known as the best articles in use, for the cure of Nervous Diseases, such as Nervous Headache, Toothache, Tic Doloreux, Lumbago, Sciatica, and all forms of Nervous Pain—also, for Paralysis in its various forms, from a partial loss of sensation or motion to that of perfect Paralysis.

To Physicians and Surgeons, they are particularly recommended as truly scientific instruments, combining all the advantages that can be obtained from the use of electric machines in the relief of disease, while they have none of the inconveniences attendant upon the use of all others. Being simple in their construction, and completely enclosed in a firm box, they are not liable to derangement, and obtaining its electricity directly from a permanent magnet, they are constantly ready for use, and are not affected by moisture, but are equally powerful in wet as in dry weather, and may be graduated to any desirable degree of strength. They REQUIRE NO ACIDS OR LIQUORS, and can be used for weeks without once opening the box, as it never need be open except occasionally to oil the bearings.

The Manufacturer submits the following, from thousands of eminent testimonials, to the public:

From Dr. Chilton, the eminent Chemist.

DR. W. KIDDER, Astor House. I have examined the Magneto-Electric Machine invented and made by you. They are the simplest and most effectual I have seen. The mechanical arrangement reflects great credit upon the inventor.

JAMES R. CHILTON, M. D., Chemist.

New York, April 29, 1854.

From Professor Silliman, of Yale College.

Dear Sir: Dr. Walter Kidder has exhibited to me a Magneto-Electric Machine, invented by you. For neatness, compactness, and facility and energy of operation, it is far superior to any instrument of the kind which I have seen. For medical application, it possesses very decided advantages.

New York, April 28, 1854.

B. SILLIMAN, Senior.

From Professor Page, of the Smithsonian Institute, Washington

Washington, March 23, 1854.

Dear Sir: Upon examination and trial, I find your Magneto-Electric Machine more efficient for its size than any I have ever seen. The improvement you have made is one possessing much scientific interest.

Yours respectfully, CHAS. F. PAGE.

From Walter Burnham, M. D., Professor of Surgery and Obstetrics in the Worcester Medical Institution.

MR. W. H. BURNAP. Dear Sir: Having employed Electro Magnetism in the treatment of all that class of nervous diseases, dependent upon general debility, and undue irritability, with great advantage for many years; and having used machines, for that purpose, of various constructions, I unhesitatingly recommend the Magneto-Electro Machine manufactured and sold by you as superior to that of any other I have ever seen or used. I have found it of great value in allaying that severe pain dependent upon an irritable state of the nervous system, which sometimes follows capital operations in Surgery, and also in the immediate relief of internal hemorrhage after child-birth, caused by inertia of the uterus; indeed, I have never failed to produce instantaneous contraction of the uterus, and consequently an immediate relief. Very truly,

Lowell, February 20, 1856. WALTER BURNHAM, M. D.

BURNAP'S

SPRING

MAGNETO - ELECTRIC MACHINE.

The Manufacturer having been repeatedly and earnestly importuned by scientific and medical gentlemen from all parts of the globe to bring forward a machine to operate in such a manner as to regulate itself, and after expending much time and money, he has invented and now offers the public the desired article.

This truly wonderful machine is so arranged that it may be wound up in the same manner as a clock, and combines great efficiency and simplicity in its operation, and is not liable to get out of order. It is peculiarly adapted for the use of medical gentlemen, and especially recommended to Surgeon Dentists as a means of alleviating that excrutiating and intense pain often produced by extracting teeth. In fact, this machine, as an agent for the eradication of Nervous Diseases, stands alone and unrivalled.

The Proprietor would call the attention of Physicians and the public to his Eye Bath, for diseases of the eye, and Uterine Insulators, which are used in connection with these machines. Full directions may be found in a book which accompanies the machines, and treats upon all diseases where electricity is applicable.

The signature of the Proprietor is attached to all genuine machines. Be particular to observe that the machines are enclosed in a brass cornered (Patent also,) Box.

My only authorized Agents for these Machines in the New England States are
